

Are you ready for back to school?

As summer comes to a close, school doors open! August can be a busy time at the doctor's office, so we encourage you to schedule any appointments you may need as soon as possible. Get you and your child ready for the school season.

When was the last time you visited a doctor?

Regular health exams and tests can help find problems before they start. By visiting your doctor every year you are:

- Taking steps to help your chances for living a longer, healthier life.
- Assessing risks of future medical problems.
- Screening for diseases.
- Updating immunization records.

Is your child fully vaccinated?

School-age children, from preschoolers to college students, need vaccines. Remember to keep track of the immunizations you and your child may need. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends vaccinations from birth through adulthood to provide a lifetime of protection against many diseases and infections, such as:

- Influenza (flu).
- Hepatitis A and B.
- Human papillomavirus (HPV).
- Pneumococcal disease.

Talk to your doctor about which immunizations are needed for you and your family.
